Hindi Translations by Bhu Dev Sharma
1) Corruption hurts all, especially the weak.

2) Together, we can reduce bribery and corruption.

3) Fight against corruption begins at home by everyone refusing its tainted benefits.

4) There are no easy or permanent solutions to the bribery problem, only a vigilant citizenry can deter it.

5) Harm to the society from bribery and corruption is compounded over time, like compound interest.

6) Cynics who think that corruption cannot be reduced are cowards who do not wish to try.

7) Corruption hurts everyone and therefore everyone can and should participate in a fight against it.

8) Bribery and Corruption: Be intolerant; expose it (by Udayan Vinod)

9) Corruption brings inefficiency and rewards expediency. (by Udayan Vinod)

(Bhishma, a character from the Mahabharata, says)